Business Expense Reimbursement Policy

Version 2.4

Effective Date: January 1, 2026

1. PURPOSE

The purpose of this policy is to establish consistent guidelines for reimbursing reasonable and necessary business expenses incurred by employees while conducting company business.

Employees are expected to exercise sound judgment and seek cost-effective options whenever practical.

2. GENERAL PRINCIPLES

Reimbursable expenses must be directly related to company business activities.

Personal expenses are not eligible for reimbursement and should not be submitted through the expense reporting system.

Employees should maintain adequate documentation supporting all reimbursement requests.

3. MEALS AND ENTERTAINMENT

Business meals may be reimbursed when they serve a legitimate business purpose, such as client meetings, recruiting activities, or approved team events.

Employees should select reasonably priced dining options that reflect prudent use of company resources.

The reimbursement limit for business meals is $75 per person.

Alcohol purchases are generally not reimbursable unless specifically approved in advance by executive management.

4. LODGING EXPENSES

Employees traveling on company business should select accommodations that are safe, convenient, and cost-conscious.

Whenever available, employees are encouraged to use negotiated corporate hotel rates.

Hotel expenses are reimbursable up to $250 per night excluding applicable taxes and mandatory fees.

Requests exceeding standard lodging guidelines may require additional review.

5. RECEIPT REQUIREMENTS

Expense documentation helps ensure accurate accounting and compliance with internal controls.

Receipts are required for all expenses over $25.

Employees should retain copies of supporting records until reimbursement has been processed successfully.

6. APPROVAL REQUIREMENTS

Most routine business expenses may be submitted directly through the expense management platform.

Manager approval is required for any individual expense exceeding $500.

Additional approvals may be required for international travel, conferences, or exceptional business circumstances.

7. SUBMISSION DEADLINES

Timely submission improves financial reporting accuracy and reduces administrative delays.

Employees must submit expense reports within 30 days of the expense date.

Late submissions may be denied unless an exception is approved by Finance.

8. COMPLIANCE AND AUDITS

The Finance Department may review expense reports periodically to verify compliance with company policy.

Employees may be asked to provide supplemental documentation if questions arise regarding submitted expenses.

Intentional misuse of company funds may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.
